Religion! What is it!

Religion! What is it?
To look devout and seem to pray;
And ere to-morrow's sun goes down,
Be dealing scandal through the town.

Not every sanctimonious face
Denotes the certain reign of grace;
A phiz that seems to scowl at sin,
Oft veils hypocrisy within.

'Tis not to mark our duty's walk,
Or of our own good deeds to talk,
And then to practice secret crime,
And so misspand waste our time.

'Tis not for sects or creeds to fight,
And call our zeal the rule of right,
When all we wish, is at the best,
To see our church excel the rest.

'Tis not to wear the Christian's dress,
And love to all mankind profess;
Then treat with scorn the suffering poor,
And fast against them close our door.

Ah, no! Religion means not this,
Its fruit, far sweeter, fairer is;
In heavenly soil alone it thrives,
And more than blossoms where it lives.

Religion! 'tis the rule of life,
The bond of love, the bane of strife,
It's precepts this, "To others do
As you would have them do to you."

It grieves to hear an ill report,
And scorns with human woe to sport;
Of others' deeds it speaks no ill,
But tells of good, or else is still.

And does Religion this import?
Oh! may our souls its influence court!
Haste, haste, the bright, the blissful day,
When the whole earth shall own its way.

VARIETY.

Three removes are as bad as a fire.
Creditors have better memories than debtors.
The rolling stone gathers no moss.
Death comes to the young, but the aged go to death.

What is the worst kind of fare for man to live on?
Warfare.
Effects of drinking. He who takes too many glasses will become himself a tumbler.

An indirect way of getting a glass of water at a watering place, is to call for a third cup of tea.
Good looking girls in male attire are dangerous counterfeits.

EXAMINATION IN ANATOMY.—How does man differ from the brute creation? He stands upright but he doesn't act so.

OLD MAID.—One of the favored subjects for exercising the courage of cowards, and the wit of the wittless.

A western editor perpetrates the following: "A flock of sheep composed of all 'wethers' may be said
to resemble our climate."

Why is a man who spoils his children like another who builds castles in the air? Because he indulges in fancy too much.

SENTENCE.—Public Schools.—The Archimedeal
lever that moves the world.

God has fashioned for us a most beautiful world, and yet we do not enjoy it as we should. Our only aim seeming to be the accumulation of the "almighty dollar."

Proud men never have friends; neither in prosperity because they know nobody, nor in adversity
because nobody knows them.

A partizan says,—"It is a mistake that the opposing party plays upon a harp of a thousand strings.
The organ of that party is a lyre."

"Envy's memory," says John Foster, is nothing but a row of hooks to hang up grudges on. Some people's sensibilities is a mere bundle of aversions constantly employed in recounting the things and persons they cannot bear.

The Boston Post hits Hawthorne hard. Speaking of Upham's Life, it says: "The Liverpool Consulate is variously estimated."

A fellow just returned from a fight, in which he came off second-best, was asked what made him look so sheepish. "Because," said he, "I have been and got lammed!"

It has been going the rounds of the papers that Joseph Hies, of nursery investigation notoriety, was laboring actively in behalf of Fremont, but it appears now that Fillmore is the candidate whom Joseph supports.

Bell Brittan, who has been on a fishing excursion,
gives to ladies the following advice:
"Ladies who go fishing should leave their hoops at home, as sitting in them on the rocks is as hard as sitting on a gridiron."

Ill-nature in one person disturbs the whole company, and makes them feel cross, too, as electricity at one end runs the whole length of the wire.

Persistence is falling nineteen times, and succeeding the twentieth; but when you do succeed,
good gracious me! how applause does come down!

IMPUDENT.—Lady (in fashionable dress).—"Little boy, can I go through this gate to the river?" Boy.—"Perhaps. A load of hay went through this morning."

A wealthy doctor who can help a poor man and will not, without a fee, has less sense of humanity than a poor ruffian, who kills a rich man to supply
his necessities.—Steele.

He who is always in want of something can not be very rich. He is a poor wit who lives by borrowing the words, decisions, mien, inventions and actions of others.—Lavater.

THE VALUE OF JOKES.—As gold becomes refined by passing through the ordeal of fire, so truth is the purser for being tested by the furnace of fun; for jokes are to facts what melting-pots are to metal. The utterance of a good joke is a useful member of society.

A CREATOR OF PROVERBS.—We beg to state that the proverb "Lightly come, lightly go," does not apply to the goat, nor to one's mother-in-law, nor to the rheumatism, nor to freckles, nor to a light sovereign;
for all these phrases come lightly enough, and yet there is the greatest difficulty sometimes in getting them to go.

Astronomers expect the appearance this year of the comet of 1556, called Charles V., and so named from having, according to some historians, caused that monarch to abdicate and retire to the Convent of St. Just.
It is the identical wandering star, some say,
which appeared in 1264, 965, and in 688. Its return was fixed for 1848, but it did not answer the call, frightened, perhaps, as a monarchical comet, by the eccentricities of that epoch. The new calculations of the seans do not, however, admit of much doubt as to the present nearness of its visit.
